SAHITYA AKADEMI

THE NATIONAL BIBLIOGRAPHY OF INDIAN LITERATURE

1901 — 1953

THIRD VOLUME

Digitized by srujanika@gmail.com

This is the third volume of The National Bibliography of Indian Literature (1901-1953), of which the first and second volumes were published in 1962 and 1966. The compilation, editing and publication of this Bibliography in four volumes covering fifteen Indian Languages and English is perhaps the most difficult and monumental project undertaken by Sahitya Akademi.

The first two volumes had covered eight languages in alphabetical order: Vol.I: Assamese, Bengali, English and Gujarati; Vol. II: Hindi, Kannada, Kashmiri and Malayalam. The present volume covers four more Indian languages, namely Marathi, Oriya, Panjabi and Sanskrit. The remaining four languages, Sindhi, Tamil, Telugu and Urdu, will be covered in the concluding volume which is under preparation and will shortly go to press.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE

This is the third volume of the National Bibliography of Indian Literature (1901-1953) of which the first volume was published in 1962 and the second in 1966. The compilation, editing and publication of this Bibliography in four volumes covering fifteen Indian languages and English is perhaps the most difficult and monumental project undertaken by the Sahitya Akademi. Its successful implementation could hardly have been possible without the able editorial guidance and cooperation of the National Library, Calcutta, whose then-Librarian, Sri B. S. Kesavan willingly and generously undertook the responsibility of being the General Editor. He was ably assisted by Sri V. Y. Kulkarni, Sahitya Akademi's then-Production Officer. Sri B. S. Kesavan had explained in his introduction to the first volume, which is reproduced here also, the complexity and magnitude of the task, the principles followed in compiling and editing the vast material and the cooperation received from the learned compiler-editors who did the preliminary compiling in the various languages concerned.

The Sahitya Akademi is fortunate to have the active on-the-spot guidance of the General Editor, Sri B. S. Kesavan once again, as the Government of India has deputed him as the Librarian of the National Library at Calcutta.

Thanks are due to Sri Y. M. Mulay and Sri D. R. Kalia, former Librarians of the National Library, for their valuable help and cooperation as Editors in printing the Second and Third Volumes of the Bibliography. The staff of the National Library and the Central Reference Library have been of great help to the staff of the Sahitya Akademi's Bibliography Unit in tackling problems arising during their work. The Sahitya Akademi is grateful to them also. Sri Kshitis Roy, Secretary of the Sahitya Akademi's Regional Office in Calcutta, and his colleagues in the Regional Office and in particular its Bibliograpy Unit continued to assist the General Editors.

Dr. V. Raghavan, retired Professor and Head of the Sanskrit Department, University of Madras and Jawaharlal Nehru Fellow, who had long been associated with the Akademi as Convener of its Advisory Board for Sanskrit, took great interest in the Sanskrit section of the Bibliography originally compiled by the National Library. He examined the proofs in very great detail and made numerous improvements by way of correction. In addition, he contributed several important entries which were found to be lacking in the original compilation. Sahitya Akademi is greatly indebted to him for this labour of love undertaken solely in the interest of helping the Bibliography to become an efficient instrument of reference.

The first two volumes had covered eight languages in alphabetical order: Vol. I—Assamese, Bengali, English and Gujarati; Vol. II—Hindi, Kannada, Kashmiri and Malayalam. The present volume covers four more Indian languages, namely, Marathi, Oriya, Panjabi and Sanskrit. The remaining four languages, Sindhi, Tamil, Telugu and Urdu will be covered in the concluding volume, the work of which is actively progressing.

INTRODUCTION

The Sahitya Akademi (India's National Academy of Letters) was formed in 1954 and among the very first projects it had planned out was the compilation of a National Bibliography of Indian Literature. It was intended that all publications of literary merit, as also works of abiding value which come under the purview of Humanities, should be the scope of this Bibliography. Arbitrary limits have to be assigned to any project to allow for definition and accuracy, and it was felt that the period from the 1st of January 1901 to the 31st of December 1953 would be a handy period of time to cover. It was also decided that if a writer lived in the twentieth century, all his published works of significance would be included, even though some of his works are not covered exactly by the period demarcated. Books of literary merit, and important and significant books on Philosophy, Religion, History and the other aspects of the Humanities, written with originality, imagination and literary taste, were to be included in this Bibliography. It was decided that the Bibliography would be in the Roman script with the annotations in English. This decision was taken to enable the bibliographical work to serve not only India, but also the whole world as an international tool of reference. All the languages of India mentioned in the Eighth Schedule of the Indian Constitution were to be included in the Bibliography, as also publications in the Sindhi and English languages. The Hunterian system of transliteration, with suitable modifications, was to be adopted in the transcribing of titles and authors' names. The collation and annotation, if any, were to be in English.

Every language section was to be divided into the following categories and in the order as follows: General Works; Philosophy and Religion; Social Sciences; Linguistics; Arts; Literature; History, Biography and Travel; and Miscellaneous.

General Works: The first section would contain important bibliographies produced in that language, general encyclopaedias and dictionaries of the language.

Philosophy and Religion: The section on Philosophy and Religion would consist only of such works as are of significance or of literary merit, e.g., works of Vivekananda, Aurobindo Ghosh, Tilak, etc.

Social Sciences: The section on Social Sciences would deal with educational, social, economic and political works, written with originality, imagination and literary distinction. For example, Letters from a Father to his Daughter by Jawaharlal Nehru, many of Gandhiji's writings, and Patwardhan's book Āmcyā Indūce Śikṣaṇ come under this category.

Linguistics: Only such works as contribute to a better understanding of the origin, history and nature of a language would be included. For example, Dr. Suniti Kumar Chatterjee's Origin and Development of the Bengali Language with its masterly introduction would be included in this section. Text-books on grammar would not be included.

Digitized by srujanika@gmail.com

Arts: The section on Arts would be devoted not only to the outstanding art portfolios like Yazdani's Ajanta Frescoes but also to books like O. C. Ganguli's Ragas and Raginis.

Literature: The section on Literature would be sub-divided into: General works, including histories of literature, anthologies, general works on literary criticism, etc.; Poetry ; Drama ; Fiction ; Essays ; Letters ; Humour and Satire ; Miscellaneous.

History, Biography (including Autobiography) and Travel: This section would include books like Sardesai's Marāṭhī Riyāsat; Kaka Kalelkar's Himālayno Pravās; Jadunath Sarkar's works on the Moghul Period and Dr. Niharranjan Ray's Bāṅgālīr Itihās.

Miscellaneous: Books of significance and literary merit which do not fall under any of the above categories.

Such a compilation implies the exercise of unerring discretion in the choice of entries to be included in the Bibliography. And such discretion could only be found vested in a scholar of undoubted eminence in the language concerned. Accordingly, the Akademi selected, with the greatest care, individuals of acknowledged authority, scholarship and taste, to compile the Bibliography in the respective languages.

In the case of Sanskrit and English, the National Library was entrusted with the compilation. Dr. Birinchi Kumar Barua, Dean of the Faculty of Arts, and Professor and Head of the Department of Assamese Language and Literature in the Gauhati University, and a writer of repute and eminence in the Assamese language, was vested with the responsibility for the choice of entries in the Assamese language and literature. Dr. Sukumar Sen, the Khaira Professor of Linguistics in the Calcutta University and a renowned scholar and writer in Bengali, undertook the compilation in Bengali. Shri Umashankar Joshi in the front rank of Gujarati literature, a considerable poet and the Director of the University School of Gujarati Language and Literature, Ahmedabad, was responsible for the Gujarati entries. Dr. Hazari Prasad Dwivedi, now the Professor and Head of the Department of Hindi in the University of Panjab, and a scholar and writer of great repute in Hindi, took over the Hindi entries. Prof. A. N. Moorthy Rao, a retired Professor of English Language and Literature of the University of Mysore, and a very significant and influential writer in Kannada, dealt with the entries in the Kannada language. Shri Mirza G. H. Beg 'Arif', a well-known writer in Kashmiri, has compiled the entries in the Kashmiri language. Shri Suranad Kunjan Pillai, the Editor of the Malayalam Lexicon, with a number of books to his credit, has taken over the entries in the Malayalam language. Shri Shankar Ganesh Date was the obvious choice for the Marathi entries because of his monumental achievement as a bibliographer of Marathi publications. His remarkable single-handed effort, the Marāṭhī Granthasūcī, was for a long time, the only bright light shining in Indian language bibliography. The Orissa Sahitya Akademi, with assistance available to it from Dr. Artavallabh Mohanty, Prof. Bansidhar Mohanty, Dr. Mayadhar Mansinha and other scholars of established repute, has taken over the responsibility for the Oriya section of the Bibliography. Dr. Ganda Singh, Retired Director of Archives, Patiala, with a number of important Panjabi publications to his credit, was in charge of the Panjabi section of the Bibliography. Shri D. K. Mansharamani, who is lecturing at the Gujarat College, Ahmedabad, and is a writer in the Sindhi language, worked on the entries in Sindhi. Shri L. P. Kr. Ramanathan Chettiar, Professor and Head of the Department of Tamil, and Dean of the Faculty of Oriental Studies in the Annamalai University, with a number of Tamil publications to his credit, worked on Tamil language and literature. Dr. G. V. Sitapati, Chief Compiler, Telugu Bhasha Samiti, and a scholar of great repute, took over the Telugu entries, and Prof. Al-i-Ahmad Suroor, Research Professor in the Department of Urdu, Muslim University, Aligarh, and Secretary, Anjuman Taraqq-i-Urdu (Hind), Aligarh, renowned as an Urdu scholar and critic, was in charge of the Urdu publications.

The Akademi felt that such a project involving so many people required co-ordination, and therefore, they requested me to be the General Editor of the Bibliography. It was my responsibility, without in any way interfering with the discretion of the compilers, to lay down the general plan of the Bibliography and to define to the compilers the standard form of entry. With this in view, I compiled the directions for the compilers indicating the scope of the Bibliography, the period to be covered, the principles of selection, the extent of the Bibliography, the form and order of the entries, the method of entry of the author's name, the subject entry, and the composition of an entry. I also worked out the specimen cards in each of these languages and printed them for the guidance of the compilers. Here I have to acknowledge the assistance of my colleague Shri Benoyendra Sen Gupta, the Chief of the Cataloguing Division for European languages, whose expertise was invaluable. After these directions were sent to the compilers, it was found that there still remained a number of problems which had to be tackled. Each of the compilers wrote to me and I tried my best to solve their difficulties. The correspondence, though voluminous, was most educative to the General Editor himself. In addition to this correspondence, I had the good fortune to meet many of the compilers individually and in groups to discuss and clarify matters. As a result of all this, the cards in various languages were compiled and sent to the office of the Sahitya Akademi for editing and publication.

This is where my friend Shri Kulkarni, the Officer-in-Charge of the Sahitya Akademi in Calcutta, and his staff come in. On a scrutiny of the several thousand cards it was found that because of certain unavoidable reasons, chiefly because of the absence of certain important tools of reference, many of the entries were incomplete. It was also found that in a number of cases some of the compilers had included certain entries into their compilation which required rethinking. The result was that in a majority of the cases the compilers either modified the entries or dropped them. But the major result was that there was a modification in the scope of the Bibliography. Many of the compilers felt that certain very important entries, though they belonged to the period before 1901, should be included in this Bibliography for fear that their non-inclusion might result in their being lost to the field of scholarship altogether. Fortunately, the number of such entries was very small, at the most amounting to about fifty in the most prolific language. This process of re-clarifying and inclusion of omitted details amounted to a very considerable task and all this work fell to the lot of Shri Kulkarni and his staff. In other words, much of the work of ensuring the accuracy of the entries became the responsibility of the Sahitya Akademi staff. I, therefore, felt that this labour should be recognized and I was happy to find that the Sahitya Akademi agreed to my suggestion that Shri Kulkarni's name should figure on the title page alongside mine as a Joint Editor.

To the compilers, every one of them distinguished in his field of activity, the General Editor offers his thanks for their patience with him and for their most willing co-operation whenever any suggestions were made. There have been certain cases where the General Editor has not been able to see eye to eye with a suggestion or suggestions made by the compiler. On such occasions the Sahitya Akademi was apprised of this difference of opinion, and the ultimate policy was decided upon with their consent. The compilers have most graciously accommodated themselves to such difference of opinion in the interests of uniformity and standardization of entries.

This Bibliography will be issued in four parts, of which this volume is the first, comprising Assamese, Bengali, English and Gujarati, the languages being taken in their alphabetical order. The second volume will contain entries in Hindi, Kannada, Kashmiri and Malayalam. The third volume will contain entries in Marathi, Oriya, Panjabi and Sanskrit and the fourth volume will contain entries in Sindhi, Tamil, Telugu and Urdu. Each volume will contain a consolidated index for all the languages in that volume.

It might be mentioned that the English section of the entries in the Bibliography is limited to books by Indian authors or books published in India or books on or about India whether published in India or abroad.

To the printers of this Bibliography I am most indebted for their readiness to cope with any sort of typographic difficulty. The extensive use of diacritical marks involved the special import of type-founts, and in this the proprietors of the Sree Saraswaty Press were most co-operative. I also know how difficult it is for a compositor to work from manuscripts in the form of cards which have been extensively corrected. But there was never a demur from the printers and they did their job cheerfully, if not very speedily.

The entire value of this Bibliography derives from the calibre of the compilers. To them and to them only, goes the entire credit of this achievement.

Finally, I should like to say how deeply grateful I am to Shri Krishna Kripalani, the Secretary of the Sahitya Akademi, for his complete confidence in me and for the way he assisted me at every stage of the work. On a number of occasions I have written to him very warm letters signifying my impatience at something not done. But I have to place on record that not on a single occasion has Shri Kripalani's urbanity been ruffled in any way. His tact, his patience and his understanding of all those who work with him and for him are qualities I will always remember.

One more word before I close. I would like to express my gratitude to the staff of the Indian Language Divisions of the National Library, who constantly helped the staff of the Sahitya Akademi in checking a number of references.
